

Bow of Heavy Cruiser Torn Off in Typhoon While Hunting Japs

ABOARD THE USS PITTSBURGH, APRI HARBOR, Guam, June 10—(Delayed)—(P)—This heroine of a bloodless sea triumph moved slowly and proudly into port today for repairs—her entire bow was ripped off by a thunderous sea in a typhoon south-east of the Ryukus June 5. The heavy cruiser came through the ordeal by storm without the loss or injury of any of her more than 1,000 men. The Pittsburgh only this year was added to the fleet forces pounding the Japanese in their homewaters. She was smashed by a 120-knot wind and made the 900-mile journey to Guam at a speed of less than 9 knots, but under her own power. A unit of Adm. William Halsey's rampaging Third Fleet, the Pittsburgh was tossed by mammoth waves as the storm enveloped her early on the morning of June 5. The swells, whipped into mountainous fury by wind, snapped off the ship's sleek nose 104 feet long and tossed it aside as though it were a match box. (The bow was subsequently recovered by a tug and towed to Guam for salvage.) In the early morning wind-lashed sheets of rain curtained the ship so that from the bridge it was impossible to see beyond the vessel. "We evidently were passing close to the worst of the storm," related Capt. John E. Gingrich, USN, commanding officer, of Dodge City, Kans. "Suddenly about 6:30 we saw two tremendous seas. One threw us 10 or 15 degrees. At the next one the (Please Turn to Page Two)

KEY ISLANDS TO MALAYA UNDER ATTACK

POLICE AT MARION, O., hold a 29-year-old woman, Mrs. Phyllis M. Webster, shown in bed after her arrest, in connection with the kidnaping of eight-day-old Jean Eileen Creviston from the Marion City Hospital nursery. The woman identified her husband as a former resident of Mansfield, Ohio, but in reality, she is married to a soldier overseas. She told police she took the child on the spur of the moment. The kidnaped baby is shown back in the hospital. (International)

Meandering Along the Main Stem
By WASH FAYETTE

A lot of you folks remember those popular Sunday School excursions which were run over the old C. & M. V. and C. H. & D. Railroads, some of them starting from this city, and others from various points. Some of these popular excursions (the price ranged from 50 cents to $1 for the round trip) were patronized by such large crowds that frequently two or three sections were run to carry the excursionists. The excursions were run to Cincinnati, Dayton, and other points, and returned late in the day, or night with everyone thoroughly tired out but very happy, for many of those who made the trips saw the big cities for the first time, and enjoyed the diversified amusements provided at some of the parks, Coney Island, Soldiers Home, and other places. There was plenty of rusty water in the ice tanks of the old coaches to supply the thirsty excursionists and then there were those red plush seats! A lot of folks wearing white clothes have good reason to remember those old red plush seats. In one instance a lot of the excursionists were thoroughly drenched by rain before boarding the train on the return trip from Cincinnati, and when they left the train upon the return home those white dresses and shirts looked like they had been painted red. Those were the days of real sport.

PILOT LANDS SHIP WHICH HIT PLANE
Passengers Pray as Airliner Goes Down

COLUMBIA, S. C., July 13—(P)—While the passengers prayed, the pilot of a crippled Eastern Airlines transport brought the ship to an emergency landing in a Carolina cornfield yesterday after it collided with an army plane 3,000 feet up, killing two army fliers and a two-year-old boy. The child was one of 17 passengers, which went down 80 miles east of here. Four others, including the boys mother, Mrs. A. E. Williams, of Miami, Fla., were reported seriously injured. Newsman at the scene said the army plane exploded two miles from the point of collision, taking one occupant to his death. A second was killed in an attempt to parachute and a third flier was uninjured in his successful jump.

Yanks in Berlin Happy To Do as Russians Do; Food Serious Problem

By DANIEL DE LUCE
BERLIN, July 13.—(P)—To the relief of GI Joe and Tommy Atkins, when you're in Berlin you do as the Russians do. American and British troops in the German capital—most of whom are fed up with the non-fraternization policy in force in western Germany—are copying the internationally friendly ways of the Red Army in peacetime. Ivanovich—the Red Army equivalent of GI Joe—believes Germans who are not Nazis are entitled to be treated without race hatred. Therefore, when Ivan saunters out in the evening he feels free to drop into a cafe, strike up an acquaintance with any German girl and invite her to dance and drink with him. In the past week American and British troops also have been crowding night spots favored by the Russians. Last Monday, British, Canadian and American military police began trying to discourage public dancing by troops of the western Allies along light avenues. "Take it easy, soldier," was their advice. "You can sit it out with a girl, but don't get up and dance until non-frat is lifted." Military police say it would be impossible to convince the GIs that what is right for the Red Army is wrong for them, and they are hoping there will be a clarification of the situation soon. Food Serious Problem The possibility of a severe winter famine in Germany was emphasized today with the disclosure that there are not sufficient food supplies in the American or British zones of occupation to last through the winter, and the Russians will not be able to supply food from eastern Germany. The American and British occupation zones of Berlin will start receiving food from western Germany next week. The Soviet responsibility for feeding more than 1,500,000 civilians in the part of Berlin transferred to Western Allied rule will cease Monday. The change from Soviet to American and British authority in 12 of the capital's 20 boroughs has been virtually completed. While the Western Allies have followed former Russian practices regarding food rations, public works and recreation, the Americans have modified the Soviet policy toward political activity. The Communist party request for permission to hold political rallies next Sunday—which the Russians had granted—has been approved by American officers with the stipulation no meeting shall be attended by more than 1,000 persons. What will happen to Nazi property owners in the American and British occupation zones in the capital is expected to be decided at the next meeting of the Berlin Kommandatur.

COAL PRICE RISE IS HINTED BY OPA
Soft Coal Producers Are Asked To Confer

WASHINGTON, July 13.—(P)—The OPA said today it will hold a series of meetings with soft coal producers beginning July 23 to determine whether additional price ceiling increases are warranted. The agency said invitations to conferences in Washington are being sent to soft coal industry advisory committees in all of the 22 producing districts. The committees will be asked to submit cost figures to show whether earnings meet the minimum standard established by the Office of Economic Stabilization. That standard requires that profit margins be those of 1942 or 15 cents a ton, whichever is greater. The spokesman said OPA "expects that some upward adjustments will be necessary."

Yanks Win British Girls in Germany
Tommyes Ired by Way Americans Leave Them All Alone While They Enjoy Dancing

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
HERFORD, Germany.—(P)—At this spot in the heart of the British occupation zone the ATS Girls outnumbered the soldiers, and the American GIs have the situation well in hand. The Doughboys are carrying the pretty ATS (Auxiliary Territorial Service) girls away by the truck to attend "Boogie Woogie" parties. At 7 P. M. they drive up at a sentry post at the bottom of a road which leads to the British area. Being Americans, they are not allowed to pass beyond the sentry, so the British girls flock down hill—about a mile in fact—to meet them on "Cupid's Corner." The GIs walk off with them, arm in arm, and load them into trucks while the British Tommyes look on with that "well, the Doughs have done it again" expression. If looks could kill, there would be (Please Turn to Page Three)

PRICE CONTROL TO BE EASED BY OPA GRADUALLY

Ceilings To Be Lifted First From More Plentiful Civilian Goods

WASHINGTON, July 13.—(P)—An OPA blueprint for the first step toward lifting price controls is being studied today by Stabilization Director William H. Davis. The plan sets up standards which would permit immediate elimination of ceilings on a number of commodities. Others would be freed as certain conditions were met. Officials familiar with the proposal, which requires Davis' approval, said it provides for removal or suspension of price controls on these grounds: 1. Where a commodity is in sufficient supply to eliminate danger of inflationary prices. In general this would cover items selling substantially under the ceiling. 2. If an article is of small importance to the civilian economy, or the maintenance of ceilings is an administrative job out of proportion to the effect a higher price would have on the cost of living. An OPA official predicted a "very large number" of items probably would fit the pattern. Under the first standard aluminum was mentioned as one of the first raw materials that might be removed from controls, with products made from that metal following as supply caught up with demand. Under the second, immediate release from ceilings might be ordered for jewelry, for example, or for such beverages as rum, brandy and cordials. Officials emphasized the proposed plan does not deal with removal of controls on major consumer and industrial commodities expected to remain in short supply for some time. Clothing, for example, and consumer products being made again for the first time since Pearl Harbor, are slated to stay under ceilings for many months, they said.

SHOCKING CASES OF TAX EVASION

Treasury Investigation Shows Many Instances

WASHINGTON, July 13.—(P)—The further the Treasury Department's drive against alleged tax evaders goes, says Secretary Morgenthau, "the more shocking it becomes." Latest cases cited by the secretary as under investigation include those of a manufacturer making jewelry boxes for purple heart medals and a firm of war contractors in Wisconsin. Morgenthau told a news conference the unnamed jewelry manufacturer has concealed sales amounting to at least $90,000 in filing income tax returns. He said indications are that criminal prosecution will be recommended. The Wisconsin case, he said, is expected to be presented to a grand jury soon. He described the case as involving several million dollars unreported income.

Terrible Effects of Occupation Revealed in Nazi Trials in France

By RELMAN MORIN
PARIS, July 13.—(P)—More than 20,000 people have stood trial in the nine months' purge of French collaborationists, but 30,000 more remain to face judgment, ministry of justice figures reveal. The courts have passed 994 death verdicts, 600 sentences of hard labor for life, 4,638 other hard labor sentences, 1,063 of imprisonment for five years or more, and 9,876 for shorter jail terms. There were 3,315 acquitted. In the lower courts queer and often terrible effects of the German occupation on seemingly ordinary men and women have come to light. Sometimes it was pure sadism. There was the beautiful and well born girl who at 19 was one of the French Gestapo's most expert torturers. There was the boy who informed on women because the Germans then let him watch them being stripped and mistreated in efforts to make them talk. July 23 the most famous of all the prisoners, Marshal Philippe Petain, is due to be tried. Slow handling of the long lists (Please Turn to Page Two)

Civilian Airplanes To Be on Sale Soon

ALLIANCE, O., July 13.—(P)—Civilian airplanes will be on the market by fall, says the Taylorcraft Aviation Corp. A two-passenger private model, known as the "Troubadour," already is on assembly lines, the company announced today, adding, full production was expected by September. The two-person, side-by-side standard monoplane, equipped with a 65-horsepower engine, will sell for approximately $2,295, it reported. Taylorcraft also reported a family sedan-type plane, to be called the "Tourist" should be in full production by December and on the market early next year. A four-passenger ship, it will sell for $3,550 equipped with a 125-horsepower engine and $4,000 with a 140-H. P. engine. The company said these planes were being constructed in a branch factory since Taylorcraft's main plant is manufacturing control surfaces for the Douglas A-26 bomber. Eventually, it plans to produce 8,000 to 10,000 planes annually.

MASS JAP SUICIDES AMONG CIVILIANS

Japanese on Mindanao Island Kill Selves, Children

HEADQUARTERS, ARMY FORCES OF PACIFIC, P. I., July 13.—(P)—Helpless, terror-stricken and virtually deserted by their own army, Japanese civilians in interior Mindanao Island are resorting to mass suicides to avoid capture. An estimated 13,000 of the hapless civilians are living on the slopes of Mt. Apo, commanding Davao Gulf on southern Mindanao. Reports to officers of the 24th Division have renewed the belief thousands of them, evacuated from their Davao City homes when the Japanese army fled before the Americans, may resort to mass suicide and murder. One prisoner taken by the 24th, told of 40 Japanese women and children already found in the Tammogan sector with their throats slit. Sick and starving, they found themselves between the American and Japanese lines. The frightened mothers killed their children and then themselves. The 96th General Assembly, however, amended the bill to allow use of the county's share of the funds, without limit, for garage construction and repair. COLUMBUS, July 13.—(P)—Counties may use their share of state gasoline tax receipts for building new highway garages or other buildings to house road equipment and machinery, under a bill just signed into law by Governor Frank J. Lausche. Previously, the 25 percent of gasoline tax funds allocated to counties was earmarked "solely for the purpose of maintaining and repairing county roads." The 96th General Assembly, however, amended the bill to allow use of the county's share of the funds, without limit, for garage construction and repair.

LEAHY WON'T SPEAK AT PETAIN'S TRIAL

Marshal Seeking Help of Truman's Aide

PARIS, July 13.—(P)—Attorneys for Marshal Petain said today Adm. William D. Leahy had notified the former head of the Vichy government he would be unable to come to Paris to testify in Petain's trial on charges of intelligence with the enemy. Petain had written Leahy requesting his help. Attorneys for the marshal said the admiral stated his duties made it impossible for him to appear as a witness. Leahy is chief of staff to President Truman. The marshal's defense will be based partially on his contention that his Vichy regime worked indirectly with the United States and Britain during its 30-month existence. Petain's letter said Leahy, who then was U. S. ambassador to Vichy, could substantiate this contention.

HOTELS FOR JAPS ARE FROWNED ON

American Legion Protests Luxurious Quarters

McCONNELLSBURG, Pa., July 13.—(P)—The American Legion has protested use of Bedford Springs Hotel, Bedford, Pa., to House Japanese diplomats captured in Berlin. Such treatment, James L. Gatins, commander of the McConnellsburg Legion Post, said yesterday, is the reverse of the treatment given American prisoners of war. The State Department announced several weeks ago that 132 Japanese diplomatic and consular officers and dependents seized by Allied troops would be quartered at the Bedford Hotel. One group of Japanese officials has already been reported to have arrived at New York, but port of embarkation officials have cloaked their activities in secrecy.

B-17 SETS RECORD FOR ALTITUDE HERE

SEATTLE, July 13.—(P)—Climbing "like a homesick angel"—in the words of the co-pilot—a B-17 Flying Fortress rose 43,499 feet into the sky Wednesday and the Boeing Aircraft Company claimed today the mark was a new altitude record for planes in the United States. Another type of plane reached 56,046 feet over Italy in 1938 but Boeing said the flight of "The Shadow" this week was a world record for four-engine aircraft.

German Military Clique To Be Destroyed, Promise

By GEORGE TUCKER
FGRANKFURT, July 13.—(P)—Gen. Eisenhower and Field Marshal Montgomery are expected to decide soon on what to do with the German general staff. At midnight tonight headquarters of the Allied expeditionary force will be dissolved, but the problem of handling the hundreds of high ranking staff and field officers of the German army who are prisoners of the Allies awaits disposition. British and American officers discussed the matter informally during Eisenhower's absence. These conversations touched on the possibility of breaking up the (Please Turn to Page Two)

JAPAN BOMBING INTERRUPTED BY TROPICAL STORM

Nips Admit Yank Threat Is Made Good as B-29s Hit Seven Smaller Cities

By LEONARD MILLIMAN
By The Associated Press. British fleet units have bombarded the strategic Nicobar Islands while carrier planes attacked airfields in northwest Sumatra, Southeast Asia Command Headquarters announced tonight in a special communique. British minesweepers swept the approaches to Malacca Strait, which lies between Sumatra and the great naval base of Singapore, from July 5 to 10 without sighting a Japanese vessel. While fleet units attacked the Nicobars, planes also laid their explosives on the islands. The Nicobars lie 280 miles northwest of Sumatra, rich Dutch oil producing island, and about 900 miles off Singapore. They are 400 miles west of the Kra Peninsula of Malaya, linking Singapore to the mainland of Asia. Japs Admit Sad Plight Japan's government-controlled Domei News Agency admitted today the United States has made good its threat of round-the-clock air attacks and that they are "a prelude to invasion of our homeland." Domei noted concentrated B-29 smashes on Japan's small and medium cities. "As soon as the foe completes the bombing of these cities he probably will attack our transportation facilities on land," said the broadcast. Tokyo reported seven of these "lesser" cities were hit in last night's saturation raid on Honshu by more than 500 B-29's and admitted fires were set. However, it claimed they were controlled by dawn today. A Japanese spokesman today denied his government has issued any peace feelers to the Allies and declared Japan will fight to the end, Tokyo radio said. Sadao Iguchi, spokesman for the Japanese Board of Information, told a press conference "there is no foundation whatsoever" for the July 10 report of peace moves voiced by United States Under-Secretary of State Joseph C. Grew. Typhoon Slows Attacks At least 21 American warships were damaged by a typhoon five weeks ago as they retired from a carrier strike on Japan, Pacific Fleet headquarters announced today, as Nippon blazed from round-the-clock bombings which Tokyo called "a prelude to invasion." The typhoon damaged more ships than the Mikado's naval guns have ever been able to hit in a single battle, but at least 20 of the damaged fighting craft are back in action. The cruiser Pittsburgh, whose bow was torn off by the mountainous seas and 138-mile-an-hour winds, and presumably other unnamed units of Adm. William F. (Bull) Halsey's Third fleet are still undergoing repairs. No ships were sunk. No one was reported killed or seriously injured. The announcement by Adm. Chester W. Nimitz explained the long gap between Halsey's carrier raids on Japan. The typhoon, the second to hit the Third fleet in six months, struck June 5, eight days after Halsey's return to action and two days after the fleet's carrier planes swept southern Japan. The next raid was last Tuesday when the fleet's task force 38 sent more than 1,000 planes against Tokyo's network of airbases. Participating in that action were (Please Turn to Page Two)

TACTICAL AIR POWER BLASTED GERMAN MIGHT

T-S Del Ponte Tells About Great Havoc Wrought by U. S. Air Forces

Writing from Ninth Air Force headquarters in Germany, Tech. Sgt. Tranquillo Del Ponte, formerly of Washington, C. H., and husband of Mrs. Regina Del Ponte, this city, explains the havoc wrought through tactical air power of the U. S. forces.

Del Ponte, a supply clerk with the 659th Air Materiel Squadron in the 8th Air Force was employed by the Cudahy Packing Co. before entering the army in December, 1941. During his 22 months overseas he has been awarded "the Presidential Unit Citation. At present he is on a furlough at Nice, on the French Riviera.

His interesting letter to the Record-Herald follows: "Now that the war is over, a lot of stories are being told about air power and how it was the primary cause of Germany's defeat, but there hasn't been a lot said about tactical air power, which Field Marshall Kesselring called the number two cause of the Wehrmacht's defeat.

"Our outfit, which furnishes airplane parts, is in the 8th Air Force, which did the strategic bombing. Our Flying Fortresses and Liberators deprived the Germans of precious oil and gas. The tactical planes of the Ninth Air Force took care of the Wehrmacht directly, knocking out some 16,000 gun positions and strong points, blasting more than 7,000 locomotives and 59,000 railway cars, and beating up more than 43,000 pieces of motor transport and horse-drawn vehicles.

"While our heavy bombers were hitting deep into Germany, the fighter-bombers and mediums were carrying out a rail interdiction program in addition to their own attacks, and by the time the Ardennes Offensive got under way, Von Rundstedt was unable to move a single troop or supply train across the line.

"During the later stages of the war, when the Luftwaffe couldn't even put up much opposition, the escorting fighter-bombers on the way back from the target, would go down and strafe the retreating German Army. That added more tactical air power to keep the Krauts jumping.

"Just how effective all this was is shown in Field Marshall Kesselring's statement that tactical air power cost the enemy 6,464 armored vehicles and tanks destroyed. It also paralyzed their movements—all except one—Retreat. And that's just what we wanted them to do."

BOW OF HEAVY CRUISER TORN OFF BY TYPHOON WHILE HUNTING JAPS

deck-plates buckled—and the bow just ripped and floated off."

Capt. Gingrich credited damage control training and the discipline of officers and crew with preventing disaster.

Instantly the order went down to reverse engines to escape the derelict bow. The stern and forward engines worked against each other to turn the ship around, an operation fraught with danger of capsizing if the waves caught the hull broadside in their deep troughs—and capsizing meant certain loss of all lives.

That maneuver was successful and the Pittsburgh headed away. She came into the deadly calm of the center of the typhoon and then was caught in the full fury of its opposite perimeter.

"All the time," Gingrich said,

"we thought of the possibility that the stern also might be carried away, which would mean the propeller shafts would be lost and the engine rooms flooded with the power and steering ability lost."

Damage control and ship's repair crews went into action under the direction of Cmdr. John J. Kircher, the ship's first lieutenant, of Port Townsend, Wash.

Lt. (JG) Fred I. Calfee of Newport, Tenn., a damage control officer was fighting an electrical fire in the anchor windlass room when the alarm for the broken bow was passed.

Calfee, Kircher and Lt. (JG) Thomas E. Acton of Monongahela, Pa., a ship's repair officer, fought through wind and rain on the weather deck with 18 enlisted men to get below and inspect the damage.

All bulkheads aft of the hatch by which they descended had been sealed off. They faced certain death if the pounding sea knocked in the bulkheads remaining forward.

They found one bulkhead between them and the sea and that one steel barrier was cracking under the sledgehammer blows.

Some of the decks below were entirely flooded. Those in which they could work at all were swirling with battered furniture, water-soaked stores and other debris which had to be passed up through the hatches before the work of shoring up the bulkhead could begin.

For five hours the men fought to hold their balance in four feet of water in the shuddering compartments. They sweated, strained and pushed 4 by 4 shoring timbers into place.

At one point, the bulkheads began to bulge inward.

"Men," cried Calfee, "if we don't get this thing done, and right now, it's curtains!"

They got it done. Throughout the fight, so smoothly did the damage control crew work there was no panic on the ship.

The Pittsburgh now lies at anchor for temporary repairs here before proceeding to a repair base where she'll get a permanent new bow and return to action.

She is a heavy cruiser of the Baltimore class, capable of 33 knots.

Many of the ships were badly hurt by towering 100 foot high seas. None was more heavily hit than the fast, new heavy cruiser Pittsburgh, which was caught near the center of the storm off the Ryukyu Islands.

A thunderous sea ripped off 104 feet of her prow.

Towering seas crushed 25 feet of the carrier Hornet's flight deck and badly damaged several destroyers, other correspondents reported.

Planes on one small escort carrier "were flipped around like beanbags, tossed into the air and over end and piled in a jumbled heap of wreckage," said Associated Press Correspondent Grant MacDonald. The forward end of her flight deck was ripped up and left dangling over the bow.

MORE ARMY UNITS RETURN TO STATES

By The Associated Press. The following army units are to arrive in the United States today (Fri.) from Europe:

At Hampton Roads, Va.—3163rd signal service company, members of the 87th infantry division, 335th field artillery battalion, 12th and 312th engineer battalion, 312th medical battalion, 87th reconnaissance troop mechanized company and 196th army ground forces band.

Correspondent William Marien of the Sydney, Australia, Morning Herald, aboard the carrier Hornet during the storm, said gigantic waves pounded hammer blows on the flight deck 60 feet above the ship's normal waterline.

The waves crushed about 25 feet of the flight deck over the bow.

When the storm abated, Rear Adm. J. F. (Jocko) Clark, commanding this task force, was called on to send out planes on a mercy search for seven ships driven from their course in the storm.

The ships were found to be safe.

But in order to get the planes off for the search, one plane attempting a normal take-off over the bow was caught in the up-draft and plunged into the water. The pilot was rescued. Clark decided to send planes over the carrier's stern.

The engineers put the carrier in reverse. The great ship backed up until the wind speed was safe for backward take-offs.

"It was inconspicuous watching planes take off the stern but the take-offs went successfully," Marien reported.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert West And Daughter Handled Rabid Animal

City Fireman Robert West, his wife, Mrs. Dorothy West, clerk of courts of Fayette County, and their daughter, Barbara, are taking the Pasteur treatment to prevent rabies as result of the family dog developing the disease and dying of it this week.

The dog had been vaccinated against rabies early this year, but several days ago became ill, with hanging jaw, characteristic of "dumb" rabies, and Dr. William Bolton, of the Health Department, pronounced the disease rabies.

While no member of the family was bitten, the treatment is being administered as a precautionary measure to prevent the disease, as all of them had handled the dog while it was afflicted.

It is the second case of rabies in the city in recent weeks, and more cases are expected.

Incidentally a further tightening of the regulations against dogs in the city is looming as result of the new case of rabies.

a 770 mile arc of the enemy homeland.

More than 500 Superforts in their sixth strike this month set at least four Japanese cities aflame and rained demolition bombs on the Kawasaki oil center in Tokyo Bay. Japanese broadcasts said fires were started in seven cities.

A steady red glow lighted Tsuruga, Western Honshu seaport that once sent invasion troops to China. Flashes of fire mingled with static electricity as B-29s lunged through a rainstorm to hit Uwajima, an interisland port on Western Shikoku Island. Other fire targets were Utsunomiya, north of Tokyo and Ichinomiya, nine miles from Nagoya.

Naval search planes raided shipping 200 miles north of Tokyo, and Okinawa-based aircraft lashed at suicide air bases 570 miles southwest of the capital.

Japanese interceptors were rarely seen, although the Nipponese have an estimated 9,000 planes left, including 4,000 which could be used over Japan. Brig. Gen. David F. Hutchison, 37-year-old commander of the advanced Far East Air Force in Okinawa, expressed confidence the Japanese "don't intend to engage us in the air" but are husbanding planes for suicide attacks on invasion forces.

Gen. George C. Kenney, Far East Air Force commander, as given command of all Army air units hammering Japan. He promised his three air forces—the 5th, 13th and newly added 7th—would hit the enemy homeland "24 hours a day." This is in addition to the

THE WAR TODAY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

One of the critical and delicate cases likely to be considered at the coming clinic of doctors Truman, Stalin and Churchill—physicians extraordinary to the world—is that of Spain, the problem being what measures are necessary to purge this proud and important country of the Axis plague.

The way things stand now, it looks very much as though the cure of Spain's ills lies in a change of government. Support for that idea is seen in the action of a commission at the San Francisco Security Conference—the commission having voted that the Franco regime, because it had Axis support in coming to power, should never be admitted to membership. That's a broad hint, to say the least.

Now of course it would be easy for the Big Three to treat Spain's malady roughly. A lot of folk are asking why the United Nations should be considerate in the case of Spain when we have just fought the bloodiest war of history to exterminate Nazism and Fascism. Why not use the big stick?

I'm afraid the answer isn't quite so easy as that. After all, sovereignty is the mightiest item among the many nations, great and small, which came so close to slavery at the hands of the Axis. The Big Three undoubtedly would prefer that Spain cure herself. That attitude has been pursued even in the case of Italy.

Here it should be emphasized that there's a difference between "Spain" and the Franco Falange Party which is in power. The generalissimo consorted with Hitler and Mussolini throughout the war—something which none of the United Nations can forgive. Apart from that Moscow won't soon forget that the Franco regime has been violently Anti-Communist from the start and was pitted against the Communists in the Civil War that brought him to power.

Britain, while roundly condemning Madrid's dealings with Hitler and Mussolini, has more than once shown a desire to give Spain a chance to rehabilitate herself. Prime Minister Churchill gave an indication of that last year when he told Commons that he looked forward to increasingly good relations with Spain and to "an extremely fertile trade between Spain and this country (Britain)" during the war and after the peace.

That brought Mr. Churchill some sharp criticism from his own people, and his "kindly words," as they came to be described in the press, also caused some speculation in America and other countries. British Minister of Information Brendan Bracken then issued a statement that Churchill's remarks were no different than those that he made on September 8, 1940, a few months after he became prime minister. Bracken quoted Churchill thus:

"There is no country in Europe that has more need of peace and food and opportunities of prosperous trade than Spain. Far be it from us to lap Spain and her own economic needs in the wide compass of our blockade. All we seek is that Spain shall not become a channel of supply to our mortal foes. Even less do we presume to intrude on the internal affairs of Spain."

"British interests and policies are based on the independence and unity of Spain and we look forward to seeing her take her rightful place both as a great Mediterranean power and as a leading and famous member of Europe and Christendom."

So far as one can see, there has been no alteration of that British policy. If there is any difference of view among the Big Three, it likely could be met by a popular change of the Spanish government.

In 1944 600,000,000 dozen doughnuts were consumed in the United States.

166 IN COUNTY NOW RECEIVING SECURITY PAY

District Report Shows They Draw $2,778.05 Monthly In All Classes

At the present time there are 166 persons in Fayette County who are drawing $2,788.05 monthly social security pay, Wayne B. Putnam, manager of the Columbus office of the Social Security Board stated Thursday in a news release covering this district.

According to Putnam there are 75 workers who draw $1555.49 monthly and there are 22 wives over 65 years who draw $280.44, total, monthly.

Six widows over 65 draw a total of $114.23 monthly, and widows with children total 18, and payments are $299.70 monthly. Forty-five children draw a total of $528.19 monthly.

The figures released by Putnam reveal how social security pays.

As of June 30, the figures show that in the seven counties served by the Columbus office a total of $108,003.59 is being paid monthly in insurance benefits to 6524 retired workers and to the survivors of deceased workers.

Of all the persons in this area, which is composed of Fairfield, Franklin, Fayette, Licking, Madison, Pickaway, and Ross counties, now receiving monthly checks from Social Security's Old-Age and Survivors Insurance, 2688 are retired workers.

The remainder of the social security benefits includes widows over 65—of retired workers, widows over 65 of insured workers who have died, widows of insured workers with children under 18, these children, and, in certain cases, aged parents of deceased workers.

RICHARD MAUGHMER WINS BRONZE STAR

He Took Part in Series of Bloody Battles

(Special to the Record-Herald) WITH THE THIRD ARMORED "SPEARHEAD" DIVISION IN GERMANY, July 12—Pfc. Richard E. Maughmer, husband of Mrs. Mary E. Maughmer, 825 Sycamore Street, Washington C. H., has been awarded the Bronze Star medal.

He is a member of the 67th Armored, FA Bn. of the Third Armored "Spearhead" Division, which is one of the veteran armored divisions. It took part in the Marigny-St. Lo breakthrough, the fighting around Mortain, the closing of the Falaise Gap, the drive across northern France and was the first division in Belgium and, subsequently, in Germany.

The Third Armored fought in the Ardennes campaign and later participated in the spring offensive which culminated in the capture of Cologne. From there it went on to expand the Remagen bridgehead and cut off "the back side of the Ruhr pocket" making the longest drive of armored history on March 29 when it went in excess of 94 miles in one day. The southern part of the Tartz Mountain pocket was largely formed by the work of this division. Throughout the war in Europe more than 76,000 prisoners were taken.

At the present time the division is quartered in the Darmstadt area south of Frankfurt on the Main.

BOY FROM HERE NOW IS WEARING 2 BRONZE STARS

Sgt. Herboltzheimer in Officer Training School in United States Now

Sgt. Arthur L. Herboltzheimer, Jr., the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Herboltzheimer, Sr., 121 McKinley Avenue, has won two bronze star medals. He is wearing the ribbon with an oak leaf cluster while he is attending officers' training school at Quantico, Va. He was sent home to the states after 18 months in the South Pacific to get training as a Marine officer.

Sgt. Arthur Herboltzheimer

The citation for his second bronze star reads: "For meritorious achievement in connection with operations against the enemy while serving as section chief of a Marine artillery battery attached to a provisional field artillery group of a marine amphibious corps landing force on two Jima, Volcano Islands from 23 February to 14 March, Platoon Sergeant Herboltzheimer maintained excellent control over the men in his section at all times. When the battery was subjected to heavy enemy artillery fire, his courage in the face of enemy fire was a great inspiration to the men serving under him. His section at all times during the operation performed with the utmost efficiency and by his actions he contributed materially to the silencing of enemy guns."

"Sgt. Herboltzheimer's meritorious conduct was of the same high standard demonstrated by him at Roi-Hamur, Marshall Islands, and Saipan-Tinian, Marianas Islands. His actions were in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States Naval Service."

The citation was signed by Maj. Gen. H. Schmidt of the Marine Corps. Sgt. Herboltzheimer won his first bronze star for action on Saipan. He entered the service three years ago and now is 27. He also wears the presidential citation ribbon with two oak leaf clusters.

YANKS WIN BRITISH GIRLS IN GERMANY—TOMMIES NOT VERY HAPPY EITHER

fewer GI's around. When the ATS go out to a party with the GI's, they must be in their barracks at 11:30 P. M.—an hour later than usual.

Several units of GI's, originally with the U. S. Ninth Army, still are here disposing of German ammunition dumps and trucking out stocks of American rations from what used to be a main food depot.

Soon they will be pulling out for the American zone. In the meantime, they are monopolizing the ATS. British Tommies won't be sorry when they leave, but many a British lassie will.

The American and British soldiers have an even start at making friends with the ATS here in Germany. The Tommies say the BI's made a hit in England because they had more money to spend. But there are no bottle clubs over here.

Maybe it is that old Boogie Woogie that gets them. It is played by a six piece GI band with torrid trumpets and plenty of rumtum on the drums. The GI's are famous for their parties. There hasn't been so much noise around these parts since the air raid days.

One of the most popular GI units is one in which Sgt. Ed Tichenor, Dallas, Texas, belongs. They have a boogie woogie band plus the sergeant's monkey, named Jack. He got the beast in a Netherlands zoo and has kept it with him ever since.

"Jack is quite an attraction," Tichenor said, "the gals say he is 'a lovely creature.' Now ain't that a helluva thing to say about a monkey?"

The first ATS-GI marriage in Germany is being planned by Pvt. "Mickey" Guest, 21 and blonde, from Stockton On Tees, England, and Pvt. George Strednak, an artilleryman from Passaic, N. J. Strednak is now stationed near Frankfurt on the Main, several hundred miles away, and is trying to arrange a leave to come to Herford next month to marry Miss Guest, who works in the ATS Officers' Mess. They met 18 months ago in England, and have been letters apart for the last six months.

CHARLES STILLWELL CLAIMED BY DEATH

Funeral Will Be Held Saturday For South Solon Man

Charles Stillwell, 83, died Thursday at the home of his son, Guy Stillwell, in Xenia.

Stillwell lived in South Solon most of his life and was the old member of the South Solon Congregational Church.

Surviving are two sons, Guy and Frank, of Dayton; one daughter, Mrs. Iva Marchant of Columbus and two grandchildren.

Funeral services will be at the church Saturday at 2:30 P. M. Rev. Virgil B. Mayme will be in charge.

Burial will be in the South Solon Cemetery under the direction of the Sprague Funeral Home.

JUST A FRIENDLY CHAT

"The tongue can no man tame, it is an unruly evil, full of deadly poison," Jas. 3:8. This is true of the unruly tongue that wags without weariness in the mouth. How many hearts ache today because of a wagging tongue! And how many reputations are wrecked and characters questioned because of the busy tongues uttering unfounded rumors and speaking deceitfully! But the wagging tongue is also destructive to its owner. With falsehoods, that tongue makes his every statement doubtful. With sincere speeches that tongue causes even himself to be distrusted. With profane words that tongue causes himself to be shunned as a plague—by some. How much more to be desired is the tongue which is a tree of life than the tongue which is a cactus plant! How much better to have a tongue that spreads honey than one that drips vinegar and acid! How much better to have a tongue that dispenses balm than one that causes blisters, that heals rather than hurts. "If any man thinketh himself to be religious, that man's religion is in vain," Jas. 1:26. "And the tongue is a fire, a world of iniquity, so is the tongue among our members, that defileth the whole body and setteth on fire the course of nature," Jas. 3:6.

Liquidating State Control
When one tries to analyze proposed Federal legislation, such as the Wagner-Murray Bill (S-1050), one is tempted to give up in confusion.

Under this one bill a political agency in Washington is given the power to tax employers and employes billions of dollars per annum; to grant loans aggregating a billion dollars in the next ten years; to provide grants to states and local governments for public health services; to make grants to states for general assistance of the needy; to provide for the creation of United States Employment Service in the Social Security Board; to establish a national social insurance system covering, as the bill says, "any service of whatever nature performed after December 31, 1945," with few exemptions. Apparently the bill would end state unemployment insurance systems.

A new social security tax of 8 percent on wages up to $3,600 a year would be levied, 4 percent paid by the employer, and 4 percent by the employee. This bill, by grants and gifts of money to states, would make the Federal government dominate the health, welfare and security systems of every state. The people would become wards of the Federal government.

The alleged objectives of the bill are already being brought about in the various states by voluntary action, without Federal compulsion and taxation.

This bill is another big step in a program to reduce the states to the position of mere administrative agencies of the Federal government.

Granting that the motives of the sponsors of the bill are the highest, the effect of this proposed legislative panacea for the woes and ills of mankind will be disastrous to individual independence in the United States.

Two Neighbors
American summer tourists have been swarming across the Canadian border lately, within the rather narrow limits of space and gas. The movement was especially great around the Canadian Dominion Day, which comes just before our own Fourth of July and in some ways corresponds to it. The most noticeable fact observed was, as usual, the sense of friendship between the nations, the ease with which they meet and mingle.

But there seemed to be a new warmth this time, born not only of neighborly good will, but also of a sort of international brotherhood based on sacrifices made in a common cause, in the foreign war just ended.

"Yank" and "Canuck" now are aware of having mingled their blood and treasure, as well as their free ideals. They do not talk much about it; in the calm Anglo-Saxon way the facts are quietly recognized and taken for granted. But they all know now, as many did not know before, that while separate in government and in superficial

The Tractor Age
It may well be that this economic era will be known as the Age of the Tractor. The tractor is certainly reforming, and may be a major factor in saving America's basic industry—agriculture.

Tractors on farms rose from less than a million in 1930 to 1,570,000 in 1940. It is estimated that in the current season of 1945, in spite of wartime restrictions, more than 2,000,000 are in use.

Mechanization of the farm is here. And its full development will be speeded up by farmers' sons, who will return to the land with experience gained in an almost wholly mechanized war.

Invasion of Japan
Americans are anxiously weighing the words of Lt. Gen. Roy S. Geiger, new commander of the U. S. Fleet Marine Force in the Pacific. Gen. Geiger, taking over his present assignment at the end of 32 days of continuous bombing, in force, of the Japanese home islands, said that American forces can land in Japan "any time we want to. Now it is just a question of wading in and finishing this war."

But when? Does he mean that our forces are likely to invade soon? It is doubtful that Washington will give advance press notices of the time and place. Probably this is another case of a military man saying things without thinking through to the possible effects of his words.

And while the country eagerly awaits official statements which might clear up Gen. Geiger's meaning, it would be sensible not to jump to any optimistic conclusions. The bitter and tragic experience of Okinawa is still in our minds. Until we see peace "on the dotted line," we had all better stay fast to our jobs. The chances are that the nation still has a long hard spell of war ahead.

The heads of 3,000 GI's have been measured by the Chemical Warfare Service, but it's for gas masks, not brains.

Pain Over Heart Explained

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.
PERSONS who suffer pain over the heart are concerned immediately about heart disease, and it is true that there are certain heart conditions in which pain over the heart is a common symptom. These include coronary thrombosis or the formation of a blood clot in one of the coronary arteries which supply the heart muscle with blood, and angina pectoris, a condition which is due to lessening of the flow of blood through the coronary arteries, or spasms of these blood vessels, or other conditions.

But every heart pain does not always mean heart trouble. One of the common conditions which may cause attacks of pain over the heart which are like those of angina pectoris or coronary thrombosis is gallbladder disease. Doctor Julius Jensen of Washington University School of Medicine reports a patient who had attacks which were quite like those of angina pectoris. However, careful examination of the heart revealed that it was normal in every respect. Careful study showed that the patient had gallstones and, after they were removed by operation, the attacks of pain over the heart disappeared.

CHAPTER FORTY-ONE
THE NEXT few weeks passed so quickly Terry was shocked one day as she stopped a moment at Sandy's office and her eye caught a calendar on the wall. "It can't be!" she fairly shrieked. "You mean to say it's only one more day before the convention starts in Buenos Aires?"
Sandy looked up from his desk and smiled his amusement. "Bless ye, Miss Terry. I didn't make the calendar. I only go by it and, strangely enough, I find that it's always right."
"I must be getting senile," Terry laughed. "They used to accuse me back in New York of not knowing what day it was, but at least I always knew the month."
"I don't see how you even know that," Sandy nodded. "The way you and the senora have been working on those houses these past few weeks."
"We HAVE worked," Terry agreed, "but it hasn't seemed like work—it's been such fun."
Sandy looked thoughtful. "I sometimes wonder if these peons appreciate all the Kimberlys are doing for 'em. And always have done for 'em as long as I've been here."
"I don't think you'd have any doubt of it," Terry said. "If you'd worked with them like we have for weeks. They're like little children. Everything delights them. Every time we put up a fresh curtain or even drive a tack in the wall to hang a picture, you'd think we were performing a miracle."
"I know that, child," Sandy said. "And still—"
"You're thinking of the workers' organization?"
Sandy admitted that he hadn't thought of much else for weeks. "I think there's only one answer to that," Terry said with conviction.
Sandy looked interested.
"In their hearts I know the peons love the Kimberlys. I know, too, that they are a peace loving people. Whatever their actions have been, it has been from some outside influence based, I think, on threats and fear. They're simple-minded, child, really, and could easily be intimidated."
"I stopped in at the taberna in the village last night to have a beer," Sandy said. "Dawson was there from Vistoso estancia. He says that they're havin' trouble with their peons, too. He'd talked to three or four mayordomos and they all said the same thing."
"It must be a big organization," Terry said with awe.
"That's what worries me. If it were just some small local trouble I'm sure we could clean it out in no time, but if it's nationwide, that's goin' to be another story."
Terry glanced at the wall clock. "My stars, is that right, a quarter after three?" she wailed.
Sandy laughed. "I'm afraid it's as right as the calendar. Ye really do have a time—with time."
Terry pulled on her gloves. "They're bringing the first load of stoves out from Buenos Aires this afternoon. I told Jime I'd supervise the installing."
"I saw a truck turn in the gate about a half hour ago," Sandy said. "They headed west on the section road."
"Oh—oh! I'll bet he's calling me all kinds of cute names by now."
Terry saw the large truck parked under a tree as she hurried down the dirt road. She could see the white porcelain of the stoves gleaming where the tarpaulin had been blown aside by the wind. From cottage to cottage they went, the men lugging the stoves into the bright new kitchens, Terry telling them where they were to be set. It was dinner time before the last stove had been placed and the truck had rumbled away.
That night, Jime sat across the coffee table from Terry, surrounded by a litter of newspapers partly cut to thirds. On her lap a large scrapbook laid open. Glue and scissors were close at hand.
"Either Brooks will have to quit making speeches or I'll have to get another scrapbook," she said with a gleam in her eye.
"Is that the last page?" Terry asked.
"Yes, and I have enough clippings to fill it."
"You might as well order another one right now," Terry suggested. "After he's in office there still will be press notices galore."
"And I'll keep everyone of them," Jime said. "I have clippings about Brooks in an old scrapbook upstairs that begin with his birth notice."
"I think that's such a nice hobby," Terry said.
When the telephone rang Terry hesitated a moment before crossing to the desk to answer. Jime knew what she was thinking. Recalling the night Brooks had called a few weeks ago, "I'll get it," she said. Turning back to Jime, "It's for you. I think it's Roxie calling from the city."
Jime listened a long time, only getting in an occasional word.

Sale of Surplus War Property Is Complex
By STERLING F. GREEN
WASHINGTON, July 13—(AP)—History's greatest clearance sale, the disposal of surplus United States war property, today stood at this point:
Consumer goods and capital goods were selling at a rate of almost $50,000,000 a month, with the government recovering about 35 percent on its investment. Sales volume is increasing, but so are surplus stocks.
Farming land, which ultimately may equal half the acreage of Massachusetts, will soon be offered, but few sales can occur before autumn.
Overseas surpluses valued in billions are being counted; sales will not begin for four or five months.
Certain Allied governments have determined to sell U. S. surpluses through their own disposal agencies.
Many may be swapped to settle foreign claims against this government.
Until the army decides how much it will ship to the Pacific—one military guess is 70 percent—and how much it should hold for use of a peacetime army, the sale of surpluses will be largely domestic.
U. S. businessmen, farmers, industrialists and returning veterans will buy the military belongings. The offerings range from war-weary bombing planes to 2,000 silver fingerbowls.
Most sales are to dealers, in spite of complaints from some congressmen who think it unreasonable that a farmer must bring his dealer with him to buy a second-hand truck and then pay the dealer a commission.
The government does not wish to go into storekeeping; it learned after the last war that selling to consumers entails distribution costs that may outweigh the returns.
A regular road-show circuit of farm machinery and construction equipment sales is in full swing from coast to coast.
Vehicle-hungry Americans grab the items up, although much of the stuff is what SPB terms "economically second-hand."
Airplane sales are slow. Transports would sell readily, but the army and navy need them.
Even before VE-Day, more than 14,000 combat and non-flyable planes cluttered up U. S. airfields, classed as non-salable.
The Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce says efforts to salvage planes and aircraft plants would stifle postwar production, halt aviation developments and "extinguish American airpower."
SPB thinks scrapped planes could be smelted down for prefabricated housing, kitchenware, roofing and fencing; the motors might become small power plants.
Medical supplies already bulk large in surplus sales, and the navy will end the war with a two-year supply. An SPB member reports hospitals will get them "almost for the cost of mailing."
Cooking equipment will go at "nominal prices" to expand the school lunch program.
To avoid killing off the machine tool industry, the government let the tool makers repurchase them, and feed them out a little at a time into the postwar market.
Most of the multi-million-dollar federal outlay for temporary housing will be demolished—under terms of the Lanham Act—within two years after the emergency ends.
Some 200,000 federally-financed permanent dwellings will be offered to the public after the war.
Some of the temporary dwellings will be offered as low-rent housing projects if local communities desire to take them over and if congress gives the green light.
The pattern of disposal is just emerging for surplus land.
The Farm Bureau Federation thinks 3,000,000 plowable acres will be offered, but suggests another 3,000,000 acres, rated as submarginal, should not be restored to agricultural use when the government is through with it.
The sale of land was stalled months ago when agriculture and the Reconstruction Finance Corporation fought out which should handle it. Few tracts have been declared surplus, and an ironclad priority procedure will tend to slow sales.
A government or state agency has first chance to buy, then the former owner or his heirs, then The Farm Credit Administration (FCA), is the agent. Its prime worry is the high price.
One government official finds the country facing "the biggest land hunger in our history." FCA fears veterans and competing bidders will send prices up so high as to jeopardize the success of their farming venture.
Therefore, the government hopes for big land surpluses, for prices are likelier to stay at a reasonable level and fewer Americans will ultimately go broke.
Nearly 2,000 persons were killed in grade crossing accidents last year.

Ceremony Unites Couple at Home Of Bride's Parents

On Wednesday afternoon, July eleventh, as the hands of the clock approached five, Miss Dorothy Roads, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight W. Roads, Market Street, this city, became the bride of Captain John E. Bailey, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Bailey Sr., of Athens.

The single ring ceremony was performed by the bride's great uncle, Rev. John L. Montgomery, at the home of the bride's parents in the presence of the immediate family and a few close friends. Tall baskets of pink and white gladioli interspersed with greenery formed a beautiful background for the exchange of marriage vows.

Mrs. Bud M. Burke, a close friend of the bride, attended her. Best man for Captain Bailey was his father, J. E. Bailey of Athens.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white streetlength frock fashioned with a coolie neckline, cap sleeves and a jeweled belt. She carried a bridal bouquet of yellow rose buds and mock orange blossoms.

Mrs. Burke was attired in a moss-green frock and had white accessories. Her corsage was of red rose buds.

For her daughter's marriage, Mrs. Roads chose a black crepe afternoon frock with accents of aqua and fuchsia. Pink rose buds formed her corsage. Mrs. Bailey, the bride groom's mother, wore a black and white ensemble. Her flowers were also pink rose buds.

Following the ceremony a wedding dinner was served at Sheridan's restaurant on East Court Street, after which the new Capt. and Mrs. Bailey left for a short wedding trip. For going-away Mrs. Bailey changed to a black and white ensemble with which she wore a black felt hat and black accessories.

The new Mrs. Bailey attended Ohio University, Athens, where she became affiliated with Pi Beta Phi sorority. Capt. Bailey, a graduate of Ohio University in 1942, was a member of Phi Delta Theta fraternity. He just recently returned from three year's service with the Eighth Air Force in England, and after a thirty day leave will report to Sioux Falls, S. D. for re-assignment.

Sixty Present For Luncheon At Country Club

Approximately sixty members and their guests of the Washington Country Club assembled in the club lounge Thursday afternoon for another of the season's fortnightly luncheon-bridge parties.

A delicious luncheon was served at small tables. Summer garden flowers added their beauty to the luncheon tables and the club lounge.

Thirteen tables of bridge were in progress during the afternoon and when the scores were tallied, attractive prizes were presented to Mrs. Sam Parrett, Mrs. Frank Michael and Mrs. Frank Littler.

Hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. Walter Craig, Mrs. Clarence Craig, Mrs. Glenn Rodgers, Mrs. Robert Jefferson and Miss Helen King.

Included with the club members were Miss Iris Gaut of New York City; Mrs. Julliard H. Blicke of Bucyrus; Miss Helen Cummings of Canton; Mrs. Walter Kerr of Aurora, Indiana; Mrs. Fred Enslin and Mrs. John D. Forsythe.

Odako Campfire Girls Picnic at Country Club

Fourteen Odako Campfire Girls, chaperoned by their guardian, Mrs. Paul Van Voorhis, assistant guardian, Mrs. Walter Rettig, and Mrs. Charles Crone bicycled to the Country Club grounds Wednesday evening, where they held a wiener roast and bountiful picnic supper.

Those who took charge of preparing and serving the delicious meal were Delores Jacobs, Barbara West, Joyce Crone, Marilyn Bishop and Barbara Sue Willis.

After the supper hour, they held a business meeting with the president, Delores Jacobs in charge. Informal games and contests concluded the evening's fun.

Two Are Guests When Club Is Entertained Here

Mrs. Julliard Blicke, of Bucyrus, houseguest of Mrs. John Forsythe and Mrs. G. B. Vance, this city, were the two guests Mrs. L. M. Hayes included with the members of her two-table bridge club which she entertained at her beautifully appointed country home on the Chillicothe Highway, Thursday evening.

Preceding the evening of bridge for entertainment, Mrs. Hayes seated her guests at small tables in the cosy living room which was a perfect setting for the congenial affair. A complete service of crystal was used by the hostess who had centered each table with bouquets of delicately-shaded flowers. The bevy of smartly dressed women in their colorful summer frocks greatly enjoyed the delectable assortment of dessert viands which were served.

At the conclusion of the bridge games, Mrs. Fred Enslin and Mrs. Thomas Christopher were prize winners while the guest award went to Mrs. Vance and traveling prize to Mrs. Robert Duntun.

Informal visiting in Mrs. Hayes' spacious and lovely home rounded out the pleasurable evening.

June Bride Feted At Shower on Thursday Evening

Mrs. Hardy Locke and Mrs. Don Gerber combined hospitalities at the home of Mrs. Gerber on Thursday evening when they entertained with a dessert-bridge and miscellaneous shower honoring Mrs. Harold Beatty, the former Jean Woodmansee, a June bride. For the occasion, the two capable hostesses had decorated the beautiful home with a number of bouquets of vari-colored flowers, lending a touch of gracious beauty and scent to the affair.

As the honor guest arrived during the earlier part of the evening, Connie Lou Locke, young daughter of the co-hostess presented Mrs. Beatty with a corsage of yellow rose buds. As favors of the pretty party, the remainder of the guests were presented lapel bud-vases which were filled with tiny flowers.

Covers for sixteen guests were laid at small tables in the living room, which was the scene of an enjoyable hour during which the two hostesses served delicious confections. Each table was prettily appointed in crystal service and was centered with bouquets of pink rosebuds. The very dainty color theme carried out by Mrs. Locke and Mrs. Gerber made the tables a most pleasing picture to the eye.

Three tables of bridge were then at play, at the conclusion of which the various prize winners were Mrs. Richard Jacobs, Mrs. Richard Steen and Mrs. Tom Mill.

Mrs. Locke and Mrs. Gerber then brought to the table where sat the honor guest, a huge laundry basket filled to overflowing with a galaxy of packages, all daintily wrapped. As Mrs. Beatty opened her gifts, she made gracious response to each guest who welcomed the opportunity to shower the popular young woman.

Those included in the evening's festivities were Mrs. Beatty, Miss Peggy Devins, Mrs. Herbert Solars, Mrs. Robert Humiler, Mrs. Harry Ferguson, Mrs. Richard Jacobs, Mrs. Tom Mill, Mrs. Paul Pennington, Mrs. Donald Lange, Mrs. Richard Steen, Mrs. Robert Wilson, Mrs. Charles Fults, Mrs. Charles Duntun and Mrs. Herbert Plymire.

Mrs. Littler Hostess for Annual Picnic

The Ladies of the G. A. R. held their annual picnic Wednesday evening when twenty-six members assembled at the home of Mrs. Frank Littler on South Main Street.

A long picnic table was set on the lovely lawn and was heaped with a large assortment of delicious picnic food. Guests were seated at small tables which were centered with mixed bouquets of garden flowers.

Following the serving an evening of informal visiting was enjoyed.

session of the Legion and the Auxiliary for the year.

An evening of informal visiting followed the picnic.

Mrs. Hattie Burnett Entertains WSCS Group

Mrs. Hattie Burnett, chaplain of the Buena Vista W. S. C. S., was their hostess for the July session which met at her home, on Wednesday. Eleven members and nine guests were included in the afternoon's activities.

Mrs. Burnett had charge of the devotional period which consisted of the group singing of "America," scripture readings and prayer. At the close, all repeated the Lord's Prayer and sang another hymn.

After roll call was answered by naming famous quotations from famous men in history, Mrs. Millie Burke, the president, had charge of the business hour.

Mrs. Burnett then took charge of the program, which opened with a reading "The Navy Blue" by Mrs. Alvira Jones. Piano selections by Miss Doris Hamilton were next, and then Mrs. Isol Hamilton read "The Statue of Liberty." Mrs. Ethel Spangler's vocal solo was entitled "Whispers of Jesus."

Mrs. Hamilton won the prize in a contest that followed, and then refreshments were served by the hostess.

Miss Humphrey Entertains with Pretty Party

Miss Grace Humphrey was a gracious hostess when she entertained with a dinner Thursday evening at her home on the Dev-alon Road.

A profusion of flowers decorated the home, and a pink and white color scheme was carried out in the details of the party.

Guests found their places at the dining room table which was centered with a watergarden of pink and white sweetpeas. Dainty pink place cards marked each cover. Fried chicken and its delicious accessory viands comprised the dinner menu.

Following the dinner hour an evening of informal visiting was enjoyed.

Covers were laid with the hostess for Miss Helen Slavens, Miss Golda Cummings, Miss Donna Marilyn Purcell, Mrs. Felix Halliday, Mrs. Robert Moyer, Mrs. Richard Witherspoon and Mrs. Robert Olinger.

Gleaners' Class Holds Meeting Thursday Evening

The Gleaners Class of McNair Church met with Mrs. Minnie Speakman on Thursday evening for the regular monthly business meeting. In the absence of the president Mrs. Carrie Lydy, vice president called the meeting to order and read the Scripture. The class members joined in praying the Lord's Prayer, after which a report from the secretary was read. The class treasurer was unable to attend and the financial report was not given. Ten members answered roll call and discussed the business brought before the group. Mrs. Grace Keller united with the class as a new member at this meeting.

For the serving of delicious refreshments Mrs. Speakman was assisted by Mrs. Bessie Sanders. The dining room table was handsomely in its appointments. Miss Becky Armbrust was a guest for the evening.

Forty Youngsters Attend Picnic At Cherry Hill

Forty youngsters were seen frolicking on the sweeping green lawns of the Cherry Hill school grounds on Thursday afternoon when the annual children's picnic given by members of Alpha Circle (C. C. L.) was entertained by the mothers.

Among the many informal and planned games for their entertainment during the party were relay races, candy and peanut hunts, clothes pin and pin games. The prize winners included Becky Waters, Billie Humphries, Linda Brown, Becky Scholl, Darlene Thornton, Dickie Waters, Nancy Humphries, Mary Jane Woodyard, David Reno and Michael Foster.

Under the supervision of a corps of hostesses, Mrs. Paul Van Voorhis, Mrs. Wayne Woodyard, Mrs. Gordon Cowdrey, Mrs. W. W. Humphries and Mrs. Frank Brown, a sumptuous meal of appropriate foods were served the youngsters, who ate with appetites keenly sharpened by the round of games and contests.

Favors for the kiddies consisted of ice cream cones, candy bars and chewing gum which they relished.

Schwaigert-Oyer Vows Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Schwaigert, Madison Mills, announce the marriage of their daughter, Lois, to Irvin Oyer, seaman second class, U. S. Navy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Oyer, Sr., of the Waterloo community, as an event of Saturday, June 30.

The double ring ceremony was read by Rev. George Robertson, pastor of the Christian Church in Mt. Sterling after seven-thirty o'clock in the church which was candlelighted.

Attending the couple was Miss Eleanor Hopkins, as maid of honor, and attending the best man was Howard Seaman.

For her marriage, the brunette bride chose a two-piece tailored summer suit in a flattering shade of pink. She had navy blue accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Miss Hopkins chose a light blue suit with white accessories. Her flowers were white carnations.

The new Mrs. Oyer is residing at home with her parents while her husband is serving with the navy in San Diego, Calif. She is a graduate of Madison Mills High School in 1944 while he graduated from that school in 1945.

Glennsner-Grimm Rites Performed in San Diego

Friends will be interested in the announcement of the marriage of Miss Rosanne Glennsner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Glennsner of Lockbourne, to Aviation Ordnance Man 3-c Wilbur E. Grimm, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Grimm of Rome.

The ceremony was performed on July 4 at San Diego, California.

AOM 3-c Grimm was at home on leave during June, returning to Corpus Christi, Texas for ten days before being forwarded to San Diego, California, for further training.

Chandler Made Real Czar of Baseball

By BUS HAM
WASHINGTON, July 13.—(AP)—Now that A. B. "Happy" Chandler is boss beyond all question, the next major question confronting baseball is whether the World Series will be played.
Major league club owners did not discuss the 1945 series yesterday as they approved unanimously Chandler's seven-year, $50,000 a year contract and almost everything else he requested.
But unofficially there was strong sentiment at the joint meeting in favor of holding the October classic if at all possible under transportation conditions at that time.

"Somebody ought to come out and say that the series is going to be played, so long as it doesn't interfere with the war effort," said a baseball leader who preferred not to be identified.
"It is almost inconceivable that the series will not be played," he added.
Chandler came out of his first session with the 16 men who hired him in a much stronger position than when he walked into the meeting room one hour and 45 minutes earlier.

Chandler's authority over the game will be virtually the same as that held by the late Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, his predecessor.
On this point, Chandler told the clubowners that if an issue is ever made on a matter which he says is detrimental to baseball, he will win or they will have a new commissioner.

Chandler did not actually sign a contract because clubowners reportedly still were affixing their own signatures. His signing, however, now becomes nothing more than a formality.
Chandler was given full authority over personnel and finances of the commissioner's office with approval of the transfer of baseball headquarters from Chicago to Cincinnati.
He has not yet decided when he will resign from the Senate but close friends think he will hold his seat until about November.

Keen Competition Looms For Tri-County League

Four salient conclusions today stood out among the observations concerning last week's games by baseball fans here as they looked forward to Sunday's Tri-County League program that is to have the Eagles on the field at Greenfield, Milfordville playing at Sabina and Jeffersonville entertaining the Good Hope boys.

Fans, looking for some keen competition Sunday, were convinced by last week's performances that Washington C. H. and Sabina do not have the only tough teams in the circuit. As proof, they cite the ninth inning 1 to 0 win of the Sabina boys over Jeffersonville in a game in which Jeff's righthanded Vannorsdal held the Sabina sluggers scoreless for eight frames.

Harry Willis, the Greenfield manager, served notice after last week's 8 to 4 victory over Milfordville that his team is definitely ly out to win the league pennant. From Milfordville, the word has leaked out that the lineup is being shuffled with the avowed intention of correcting some weaknesses to beat the Sabina boys.

Good Hope's jinxed tailenders are mad enough and spunky enough to start some baseball that would upset some of the calculations. Dawes, acknowledged to be one of the loop's best pitchers, will take the mound against Jeffersonville.

Allen Dumford's Eagles are not taking their game at Greenfield lightly. While the Washington C. H. outfit is at the top of the standings, the Greenfielders have been improving with every game.
This is the way the teams stack up as they go into the ninth round of games:

Team	W	L	Pct.
Washington	7	1	.875
Sabina	1	8	.113
Greenfield	4	5	.450
Jeffersonville	3	5	.375
Milfordville	2	6	.250
Good Hope	1	5	.167

Reds Split with Dodgers; Holmes' Hit Streak Ended

By JACK HAND
By the Associated Press
Bobo Newsom still wears the pitchers' dunce cap and Tommy Holmes is teacher's pet in the hitting class but the epidemic of "streakitis" that threatened to overshadow the major league pennant race is over.
It took Newsom from April 21 to July 12 to pick up a mound decision but he finally broke his 12-game losing streak yesterday with a brilliant four-hit shutout of last year's champion St. Louis Browns, 4-0.

Holmes had hit safely in 37 consecutive games, breaking Rogers Hornsby's modern National League record, until his old Wrigley Field jinx stopped him in the first game of a Braves-Cubs doubleheader that attracted a banner weekday turnout of 29,513 paid.

Hank Wyse, one of the two Bruin hurlers who had horse-collared Holmes back on June 3, his last hitless day, snapped the season's most sensational spurt by sending the Boston outfielder to the dugout without a bingle in four trips to the plate.
Chicago triumphed behind Wyse 6-1, stretching its victory string to 11, but that streak also was doomed as Boston swung back to even the series, 3-1, on Carden Gillenwater's two-run homer in the ninth. Holmes hit safely in the nightcap, a single preceding Gillenwater's clout.

The Braves got ample revenge for that 24-2 pasting in Boston in the second hit because Claude Passeau's nine-game win streak also fell by the wayside.
Brooklyn broke out of a slump that cost them 5 of their last 7 games by swamping Cincinnati, 11-5, in the late half of a twilight night doubleheader after blowing the first one, 4-3, to the veteran Joe Bowman. The split left the Braves only a game back of the first-place Cubs.
St. Louis was in and out of second place during the evening, moving up when Brooklyn lost and dropping back when Danny Gardella double home two runs in the 10th inning for New York's 9-7 margin over the Cardinals.

Pittsburgh opened a long home stand which Frankie Frisch hopes will get the Pirates back into the race by shutting the door in the Phillies' face, 4-0. Nick Strincevich did the slamming and helped his own cause by belting home a pair of tallies.
Washington moved to within 3½ lengths of front-running Detroit on a night 4-2 edge over Chicago. It was Dutch Leonard's 10th decision but the knuckleball expert was not around at the finish as he injured his right hand during a hard hit ball in the 8th inning.

Jim Wilson outpitched Hal Newhouse, the Tigers' ace, to give Boston a slim 2-1 shade and spoil the launching of Detroit's second eastern visit.
With Newsom's revival acting as a spur, the Athletics went into a complete form reversal and shut out the Browns twice, 4-0 and 11-0. Flores did the second job, a three-hitter.

The home run that built the Yankee Stadium backfire on the New York Yankees as Cleveland grabbed a 7-4 decision. Mickey Rocco, Jeff Heath and Frankie Horton did the honors for the Tribe.

Wilsonians Still Lead In Softball

It's still Wilson's Hardware and Craig Brothers teams leading the leagues but the in-between team ratings were shuffled after this week's round of games.
In the senior league, for instance, the API team jumped into a tie for second place with Sheidler's Insurance while the American Legion and Hoff's Market divided the third place standing. Company D. still is at the bottom of the list.

The Craig team is the only one of the 12 playing league softball which has lost no games at all so far. The Methodists yielded their third place rank to Moore's insurance. The Presbyterians are still last.

Harpor of Hoff's Market is leading the batting parade this week with the old faithful Warner-Wilson combination second and third.

Tronita Wins Randall Race; Coming Here

Although horses and drivers from Fayette County were watching from the sidelines, three horses that performed for the crowds at North Randall's Grand Circuit races Thursday night probably will face the starter in the Fair races here week after next.

Tronita, Sanders Russell's bay mare that received the winner's acclaim here last year, won the $500 purse of the 2:13 trot in 2:08 and 2:09. Doctor Brodie and Son G could not quite reach Tronita's success, but they were in faster company when they finished third and fourth in the $2,500 Edwards Purse for 2:12 pacers with conditions. Time for the mile heats won by Royal J., was 2:05 and 2:07½.

Titan Hanover today remained the horse to beat in harness racing's Hambletonian—provided the famous Goshen, N. Y., race is held this year.
Stepping against nine other Hambletonian candidates in the $6,203 championship stallion stake for three-year-old trotters, the speedy bay son of Calumet Chuck won both heats coasting. He jogged under the wire in 2:06½ and 2:07½, Harry Pownall chaffering.

It was Titan's first Grand Circuit start of the season and he didn't even attempt to equal his two-year-old world record of 2:00 in either heat.
Summaries of Grand Circuit racing at North Randall yesterday:
Thirteen Trot—Purse $500; mile heats: Tronita, b. m., by Spencer (Russell) 2:08, 2:09; Harry Pownall 2:06½, 2:07½; Sidney Hanover, b. c. (Shively) 2:07, 2:08; Luck Ahead, ch. g. (Egan) 2:08, 2:09; Times—2:09, 2:08; Lingo Direct, Nora and Butch's Guy also started.
The Championship Stallion Stake—Purse $2,500; mile heats: Titan Hanover, b. g., by Calumet (Chuck Pownall) 2:05, 2:06; Seafaror Lad, b. c. (Hawkins) 2:06, 2:07; Precision, blk. c. (Berry) 2:07, 2:08; Times—2:09, 2:08; Kimberley Hanover, Reylard, Projectile, Honor Hanover, Madagascarr and Carmel Boy also started.

The Edwards 12 Pace With Conditions: Purse $2,500; mile heats: Royal J., ro. h., by Royal Napoleon (Berry) 2:05, 2:06; Blue Again, br. h. (Plain) 2:06, 2:07; Dr. Brodie, b. g. (Mahoney) 2:07, 2:08; Son G., b. g. (Marlatt) 2:08, 2:09; Times—2:05, 2:07½.
Nineteen Pace—Purse $500; mile heats: Sade Rossen, b. m., by Calumet (Adam Stafford) 2:05, 2:06; June Castle, b. m. (Dunwoody) 2:06, 2:07; Frisco Flip, b. m. (Dunwoody) 2:07, 2:08; Frankie Dale, ch. g. (Huber) 2:08, 2:09; Times—2:05, 2:07½; Jennie L. Direct also started.

Friday the thirteenth apparently holds no fears for the American Legion and Sheidler Insurance softball teams for both outfits are to meet out-of-town rivals Friday at Wilson Field.
The Legionnaires will play the Wilmington Army Air Base at 8:30 P. M. here and the Insurance men will meet the New Martin Restaurant at Wilmington at 7:30 P. M.

Next week's schedule is: Monday, Methodists vs. Presbyterians and Wilson's vs. API; Tuesday, Troop 64 vs. Moore's Auto and American Legion vs. Company D; Wednesday, Craig Brothers vs. Korn's Insurance and Sheidler's Insurance vs. Hoff's Market.

Slipcovers and curtains should be wetcleaned whenever possible because a great percentage of them are made of cotton or linen which does not always respond with complete satisfaction to dry cleaning.

GRAIN MARKET NEWS SUMMARY
CHICAGO, July 13.—(AP)—Belief of traders that the government soon would inaugurate a wheat support program for the current crop led to considerable buying today and wheat futures climbed as much as 1½¢ a bushel before profit-taking cut into the advances.
Practically no corn was coming into the market, and not much oats, and traders said there thus was a greater feeder demand for wheat.
Wheat closed ¼¢ to ½¢ higher than the previous finish, July $1.67½-½, Dec. $1.64½-½, May $1.64½-½. Corn was unchanged at $1.18½, Oats were up ¼¢ to ½¢, July 68½-½, Rye was ¼¢ down to 1¢, July $1.53½, Barley was ¼¢ lower to ½¢ higher, July $1.18.

$25,000 CLAIM FILED ON LUPE VELEZ ESTATE
LOS ANGELES, July 13.—(AP)—A creditor's claim for $25,000 has been filed against the estate of Lupe Velez by her sister, Mrs. Josephine Anderson, who asserts that under an agreement with the actress she was to care for Lupe's baby when it was born.
The Mexican actress ended her life, and that of the unborn baby, by taking sleeping medicine last Dec. 14.

Hiya Family!
No excuses handy... I am forced to be extra truthful. A horrible mistake has been made by me. Last column we told you about a fine show, "The Doctor Fights," and gave you the right listening time, 8:30 p. m. (est) but... it is TUESDAY NIGHTS, and not the one mentioned!
Here's a show... and... the time (this is correct) is Wednesday nights at 7. If you're a mystery fan you've read the "Saint" stories. If you're not a reader—for goodness sake be a listener... because "The Saint" is really top entertainment. Brian Aherne of movie-land is Leslie Charteris' "Saint." Campbell's Soaps bring you this half-hour of intrigue, suspense, and dashing liveliness! Don't miss it!
You need no introduction to Ann Southern... her "Maisie" movies have made her famous. Well, Eversharp is bringing this "bit of Blonde" to you every Thursday at 7:30 p. m. (est). And you are going to go for this hip-swinging, gum-chewing, Brooklyn-babe. She has her good looks, pretty ankles, and big heart, spell adventure. Tune in radio's edition of "Maisie!"

FINAL FILING DATE IS FIXED FOR AUGUST 8

Time Is Advanced 30 Days Due to Servicemen Who Are Absent

Because of a change in the election law made for the purpose of allowing more time to send ballots to absentee and soldier voters, the filing time for candidates to appear on the ballots for the coming fall election, November 6, has been advanced 30 days this year.

The Fayette County Board of Elections announces that the time limit for city, village and township candidates to place their petitions in the hands of the board is 6:30 P.M. on Wednesday, August 8. The board then is required to begin sending soldier and absentee ballots away not later than September 7. Heretofore petitions of candidates in odd year elections were not required to be filed earlier than 60 days before the elections date.

In Washington C. H. two members of the city council are to be elected, the terms of R. H. Sites, president of council and police judge, and Frank O. Snyder, expire this year. It has not been announced publicly whether they will both be candidates for reelection.

Also in this city two members of the board of education are to be elected. The terms of Ray Brandenburg and Leonard Korn expire this year. It has not been announced publicly whether they will both be candidates for reelection.

In the city of Washington there also are a justice of the peace and a constable to be elected, these offices now being held by Justice George H. Worrell and Andy C. Nelson, respectively. These offices are to be filled by reason of the fact that they represent Washington Township which is within the city, limited by the corporation boundaries.

While there is provision for two justices of the peace and two constables to be elected the city authorities have indicated that there is not sufficient work for more than one person for each office. When Justice W. W. Dewesse died while in office some years ago, the city council, which has the appointing power named Atty. R. M. Winegardner to the vacancy but he never qualified for the office and no other appointment ever was made. No township trustees are named for Washington Township as the city council acts in the capacity of such a board.

In each of the other townships of the county there are two trustees to be elected, also one justice of the peace and one constable, with the exception of Concord and Perry townships which have not been electing justices of the peace or constables. Voters in these townships for several years have held that the population and location of each is such that these latter officials are not needed.

In the incorporated villages of Jeffersonville, Bloomingburg, Milledgeville and Oeta there are to be elected in each a mayor, clerk, treasurer and village councilmen, also three members of a board of public affairs. How much the latter board has functioned has been regarded as questionable in some of these villages.

For the county board of education there are three to be elected by the voters of the county outside of Washington C. H. The three members on the board whose present terms expire are H. B. Lightle, Hugh B. Sollars and Nathaniel Tway. It has not been announced whether these members will be candidates for reelection.

Each district board of education in the county has three members to elect this fall. These boards are for townships, villages and overlapping school districts. The only exception to this is the Jasper Village School District which has only two to elect.

There also will be a question and issue ballot for all the voters in city and county. This will carry the provisions for bond issues and special levies which may be filed with the board of election.

36 INTERMENTS MADE DURING THREE MONTHS

Washington Cemetery Report Filed for the Second Quarter of 1945

During the last three months 36 burials were made in the Washington C. H. Cemetery, as shown by the quarterly report made by Supt. W. S. Baughn, at a joint session of the Union Township Trustees and City Council, Wednesday night, preceding the regular session of council.

The report also showed receipts of $3,919.19 for the three months, and expenses of $3,915.59 for the same period.

Receipts were from the following sources: Sale of lots, $2,307.30; Interments and linings, $1,717.96; Stone vaults, $225; Tent, $35; Foundations, $626.63. Sales stamps, $7.30.

Expenses were: Salary and labor, $3,140.89; Water company, $11.25; Telephone service, $10.40; Dayton Power and Light Co., $14.38; Cemetery supplies, $656.09; Internal revenue, (withholding tax) $81.50; Office supplies, $1.08.

The report was received and placed on file.

FEW SOAP CHIPS ON SALE HERE

Pronounced Shortage Cause Of Much Concern

Now it's soap chips that is missing from the shelves of the stores.

Starting last week the shortage within a few days time has become very acute, so that when a small consignment is placed on sale it vanishes as if by magic. Soap chips are not abundant anywhere, it seems, and the supply is far below the demand. The outlook, dealers state, is not good, and the shortage is expected to continue indefinitely.

A canvass of the main markets here Thursday failed to bring to light a single package of soap chips, according to one resident. Soap aids, of which there are many on the market, are much in demand as result of the shortage of chips and powder.

A fair supply of soap is still available in most of the markets.

The board of elections clerk, Glenn B. Rodgers, has stated that the board is anxious to have candidates file their petitions as early as possible because of the necessity for sending out ballots earlier than usual this year.

MORE COAL TO MOVE THROUGH WASHINGTON C. H.

Huge Coal and Ore Terminal At Toledo To Boost Fuel Shipments

More coal will be moved through Washington C. H. for the lake markets, is the view of railroad men, when a new joint facility coal and ore terminal is constructed on Lake Erie, at Toledo, by the New York Central Railroad Co. and Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Co. estimated to cost $15,000,000, it will be one of the largest of its kind in the country and will provide modern and readily accessible facilities for the transshipment of coal and ore between railroad cars and lake vessels.

The new terminal will be built, owned and operated by a separate corporation formed by and controlled by the two railroads. The Ohio Legislature recently passed, and Governor Lausche has approved, an enabling act which will facilitate the financing of this project. Construction will be undertaken immediately after approval of the project by the necessary Governmental bodies and the allocation of essential critical materials by the War Production Board.

The location of the new terminal, directly on the lake front at the mouth of the Maumee River, will greatly expedite the handling of coal and ore by the two railroads, which now have separate plants located on the river some miles inland from the lake front. To reach the present facilities boats are required to pass through five or more drawbridges, causing delays which will be eliminated when the new terminal is in operation.

The new terminal will be equipped with three electrically operated coal dumping machines, and with two ore loading machines, and will handle annually millions of tons of lake cargo coal originating in Virginia, southern West Virginia, eastern Kentucky and Ohio. It will also be equipped for the mixing of cargoes at a single dock of the various grades of coal originating in the different fields serving the lake cargo trade.

The plans provide for the construction of ample yards and the necessary bulkheads with ship basins dredged to accommodate the deeper draft of the latest lake vessels.

It is expected that the B. & O. and D. T. & I. Railroads will both share in the increased business expected to result from building of the terminal.

STILL FIGHTING FIRE ON DUMP

Vast Amount of Water Used To Combat Blaze

Firemen were still battling the dump fire, Friday with indications that before the day ends they would have the smouldering material so thoroughly soaked with water that no further spread of the fire would be possible.

Firemen started on the flames soon after it was reported around Wednesday midnight, and worked for over five hours.

Resuming the task of extinguishing the flames early Thursday forenoon, and with the aid of an auxiliary pumper which drew the water from the creek, the firemen worked in shifts most of the day and part of Thursday night, then again took up the task Friday forenoon.

It was necessary to use spuds in making openings in the refuse in advance of the fire, and then, by placing hose in the openings and flooding the material below, the fire was halted.

The smoke and fumes from the fire caused many complaints.

SCREENINGS APPLIED TO VARIOUS ROADS

Due to the bituminous roads "bleeding" profusely during some of the hot weather recently, the State Highway Department in Fayette County under direction of Supt. C. C. Eakins, has had crews busy applying screenings to take up the surplus tar.

The highway from Jeffersonville to the Greene County line, and parts of Routes 35 and 22 were included in the roads given attention.

COUNTY IS OVER WAR BOND GOAL WITH $749,123

7,924 Bonds Sold During Drive But E Bond Goal Of $518,000 Is Missed

Fayette County is over the top in the Seventh War Loan drive with $749,123.75 officially credited here.

Carroll Halliday, chairman of the War Finance Committee, said he believed the campaign surpassed its $749,000 goal through the efforts of the last three week's work by the men who engineered the "campaign within a campaign" which proved so successful.

Halliday also expressed his appreciation for the cooperation of all the 200 men and women who sold bonds to their neighbors.

Altogether, a federal reserve report of Wednesday shows $7,924 bonds were sold during the drive. That number includes the bonds bought by corporations which boosted the grant total to $1,182,868.25.

The E bond total was $467,643. But that was $50,357 short of the $518,000 goal.

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD FOR MRS. MYRTLE TAYLOR

ELECTRICITY CAN GIVE THE ANSWER—

To feed a war-torn world will take the continued maximum effort of the American farmer. He knows through tough experience that his "electric farm hands" have helped him feed a nation and a world. He knows that when machinery production restrictions are lifted, electricity stands ready to answer, even more fully, his "call for help."
